LOWNESSVILLE.

Lowndesville, July 19th, 1909.

Mrs. Wm. Mattison and children of Augusta, Ga., have been at the home of the brother-in-law of the first, Mr. A. V. Barnes, for some days.

Miss Nanette Thornton, of Hartwell, being called to the home of her uncle, Hon. I. H. McCallie, in company with her cousin, Mr. Mack McCallie of The Fork, were in town for some time Wednesday.

Wednesday night at 8.30 in the school building in this place, Dr. W. E. Hall, of Atlanta, Ga., delivered a fine lecture on "How to Get Married and Stay So." It was pronounced a learned and interesting effort by the large crowd in attendance. His subject with many people, in many places, would be all right as to the first part, but all wrong as to the second part, in that the most of people are willing enough to be told how to get married, but the facility and frequency with which the marriage bond is ignored and annulled would lead an observer to conclude that they did not want to stay so.

Messrs. E. Bell and C. G. McAllister, of Latimer, were in this place on business Wednesday.

Miss Lela Speer who has spent some time with kindred and friends in Birmingham, Ala., passed through this place on her way to her father's home in Montgomery, Ala.

Mrs. T. B. Chikacoles on Thursday went to her old home near Bordeaux, to be present at and take part in, a Britt-Bonchillon family reunion, to take place in the near future.

A short time ago a darky on the other side of the Savannah, so it is alleged, killed two of his race, and at once fled to this side of the river. Last week Mr. Hill Ramey, the Magistrate's constable at Mt. Carmel, through the kindness of another darky located the darky named "Tom," and he was taken to the jail.

Mrs. J. B. Thornton and family, Mrs. Clarence Linder and little babe, of Hartwell, were guests of Mr. J. H. McCallie for several days last week.

Messrs. E. R. Horton and Charles Webb, of Anderson, came down from Anderson in an auto car Thursday and spent several hours here.

Rev. A. J. Canthen, P. E., of Anderson, came down Saturday morning and he and Rev. R. W. Humphries went to the Ridge, and after 11 a. m. preaching services, by the first, the third quarterly conference for this charge was held. The same preacher occupied the pulpit at three o'clock on Saturday the next day and came here and preached in the Methodist church at 8.30 p. m.

Rev. Dr. Byrd, president of the Georgia College, Greenville, came down Saturday and occupied the pulpit in Providence church yesterday at 11 a. m. and gave to his hearers a fine sermon.

Abbeville---Champions.

Buffalo Claimed the State Championship, but it took only two games to show their inferiority to Abbeville.

The Buffalo team looked like the champions that they claimed to be as they marched through the square on Wednesday afternoon, and what few knoockers were left proclaimed with one accord, "Here is where Abbeville beats 'em; sure!" And even the most loyal fan admitted that it was a tough proposition.

But, the Jones Brothers were in the box and the team was behind them, and if you will pardon a slang but very expressive expression, they made Buffalo look like thirty cents.

Terrill Jones pitched the first day, and gave up his usual number of hits, two, while he made seven batters do the Casey stunt. Abbeville hit Cline freely, getting a total of twelve hits and eight scores. Bill Perrin distinguished himself getting a three-bagger and a single. Watson and Ernest McCarter got two hits apiece.

In the second game things were different. It was a pretty game, all the way through but the fourth inning looked prettiest to the Abbeville fans.

Buffalo made their only run in the second inning on a wild pitch by Roy Jones, who was pitching, and a bit.

The break for Abbeville came in the fourth. Up to and after this inning Gardin, Buffalo's south-paw, had things going his way. He had struck out six men in the second and third inning, and he wore a smile that was a pretty good imitation of the never-ground long enough to arrest and handcuff him, and he went to the "Abbeville Hotel" to sleep.

Friday night there was quite a large gathering of young people at Mr. H. A. Tennant's place at the home of Miss Minnie Hewitt, of Marion, who was there on a visit. In due time palatable refreshments were served and enjoyed.

Mr. J. B. Thornton and family, Mrs. Clarence Linder and little babe, of Hartwell, were guests of Mr. J. H. McCallie for several days last week.

Messrs. E. R. Horton and Charles Webb, of Anderson, came down from Anderson in an auto car Thursday and spent several hours here.
